The Urban art of Antonio de Felipe takes shape for visitors in Boca del Calvari

The artist Antonio de Felipe has made this morning a mural on an image of Benidorm before the tourist boom in the 60s by local photographer Francisco Pérez Bayona, 'Quico', which decorates the entrance to Museu Boca del Calvari in Benidorm under the watchful eye of passersby who at that time went by Paseo de la Carretera.

De Felipe is exposing until September 25 the exhibition "The Best if the Beast 'in Boca del Calvari. He has used spray paint and permanent markers, realasing 'Quico's photography 'on which the artist has set out its vision of the modern Benidorm. The mural will become part of the municipal heritage and Quico's photography will return to its original state upon completion of the exposure.
